

Biscotti Novellini Gentilini

Among the sweetest memories of when you are a child is that of the scent of freshly baked hot cookies, greedy and hungry eyes, the first bite full of expectations and that explosion of taste that leaves you breathless.

An emotion that Pietro Gentilini had well impressed on his mind and that he absolutely wanted to reproduce. So when he grew up, he tried and tried again in his laboratory until he found the perfect combination. He has chosen only the best ingredients to obtain the softest dough, the drawing that caresses the pasta making it crumbly, cooking in the oven at the right temperature to enhance its flavor and to preserve all the scent has wrapped them just out of the oven.

This is how the Novellini were born, so Pietro's dream is still a reality today.
